Great Fire Commemorative Tea Caddy and Biscuits

Ideal for Gifts, Perfect Stocking Fillers for Christmas

We have been asked by Liverymen for additional tea caddy tins of Great Fire Biscuits to give to family and friends. They make excellent commemorative gifts in this Great Fire of London year and will be popular as Christmas stocking fillers.

The biscuits, which contain spices that were in use in the 1660s, were specially created for the Company by Liveryman, Mike Jarman, managing director of baker and confectioner Bothams of Whitby (www.botham.co.uk) and one of the UK's leading biscuit makers.

The design of the tea caddy tins includes the Company's name and Coat of Arms around the base and the Museum of London's famous Dutch painting of the Great Fire as the background. All orders will have 2017 Best Before dates for the biscuits.
